Prophecy Against My Enemy Satan

"Speak against My enemy. He only does what he is told to do, nothing else. He is against My people. I have limited his powers. He can only do what I told him to do, says the Son of God. He is a limited being, not a god, for he only obeys Me, the limitless God of eternity. I Am Jesus Christ. I crush Satan's head periodically. I Am God. Obey Me. Satan is not to be worshipped for he is only a limited created being, not a god. He is god of this fallen world of sin, governing the lives of sinners throughout the world. The world system is his and he governs money, determines its value. I say what goes, no one else. My Father controls all, My son, not Satan. I made Satan fall when I filled his heart with pride– I Am God. I let him sin and fall like lightning so that he could do My will on Earth, nothing else. Many people worship him– they shall go to the Lake of Fire unless they repent before Me, the Son of God. I control his every movement, My son. He can only do what I say. I have ensured his eternal damnation in the Lake of Fire, My son. He will go there forever at the end of time, My son. I Am God, the Father of the prophets, My son. Obey. Satan has nothing on Me. His Satanists will be rounded up and cast into the Lake of Fire forever. He does what I say. I tricked him at the Cross, no one else. He is a limited being, floating around the Earth sometimes, sometimes in Hell, sometimes before the Throne. I will judge him forever, and his reign on Earth will end, My son. Many he has sent to Hell who are not My elect, My son. He loves to punish them, the sadist that he is. Obey God. Obey Me. Your LORD has spoken."
